Creamy, saline texture, full and fresh, stone fruit and ripe lemon, with good length.

ABOUT THE WINE

Made for El Grifo's 250th anniversary, and the bottle they reach for themselves when someone asks what the winery can do. Hand-picked in Tinajo, fermented with its own yeast strains, more than four years on the fine lees and partly cask-aged. Creamy and saline at once.

THE CRAFT

How it is made

The road from grape to bottle, step by step, as the winery itself describes it.

- | | | | |
|---|---|---|--|
| 1 | THE OCCASION
Made for El Grifo's 250th anniversary, as a separate edition of the winery's own Lías. | 4 | ON THE LEES
More than four years on its fine lees. The winery itself points to that long, patient ageing as the source of the depth and the texture. |
| 2 | THE VINEYARD
Malvasía Volcánica, hand-picked in Tinajo, from vines on their own roots. | 5 | CASK
Part of the wine is aged in cask and then blended back with the rest. |
| 3 | FERMENTATION
Fermented with the winery's own yeast strains. | 6 | BOTTLING
Bottled for further ageing in bottle. |

WHAT SETS IT APART

Made for the winery's 250th anniversary. More than four years on the fine lees, part of it in cask, then left to mature in bottle.

THE WINERY BEHIND THE WINE

The oldest winery in the Canary Islands and one of the ten oldest in Spain, run by the same family across generations. They have made wine without a break since 1775 and turned 250 in 2025 — and have still kept a curiosity that lets them make everything from a bone-dry Brut Nature with years on the lees to a pale rosé from free-run juice.
